

Richard Long is both an artist and a hiker. Whilst walking, he crafts uncomplicated sculptures in distant locations. These pieces serve as subtle indications of his time spent there. Knowing that in time the land will take his sculptures back.

This documentary follows a walk from the perspective of Richard Long. We witness the landscape just as he would, experiencing it from his unique perspective. As he walks through his cherished local spot, Dartmoor National Park, Richard Long leaves a gentle reminder of his presence.